Background

The United Nations General Assembly resolution proclaiming the International Decade for Action, “Water for Sustainable Development”, 2018-2028 (A/RES/71/222) emphasizes the importance of cooperation and partnerships at all levels to achieve internationally agreed water-related goals and targets and called for the organization of activities at the global, regional and country levels to support the Decade.

UNGA resolution A/RES/73/226 then decided that the midterm comprehensive review of the Water Action Decade would be convened as a United Nations conference in March 2023. The conference would be preceded by regional and global preparatory meetings to support the review process, including the implementation of the United Nations Secretary-General’s Action Plan for the Decade.

In response, the five United Nations Regional Commissions engaged member States and stakeholders in regional consultations during 2022 and 2023 that assessed progress and identified regional priorities and initiatives for mobilizing water action. Coordination of these meetings was supported by the UN-Water Regional Level Coordination Expert Group and its Regional Discussions Groups coordinated by the United Nations Regional Commissions. Regional preparatory meetings were organized for: (1) Africa; (2) Arab States; (3) Asia and the Pacific; (4) Europe and Central Asia; and (5) Latin America and the Caribbean.

These preparations complemented the Water Dialogues for Results that were organized by the Federal Government of Germany in 2021. The dialogues included virtual consultations at the regional level, which were coordinated with United Nations Regional Commissions, and a global dialogue in Bonn.

This side event is organized by the United Nations Regional Commissions in support of the UN-Water Regional Level Coordination Expert Group contributions to the Water Action Decade and in collaboration with the Federal Ministry for the Environment, Nature Conservation, Nuclear Safety and Consumer Protection (BMUV) of Germany.

Objective

The side event will share outcomes from the regional preparatory meetings and dialogues convened to inform the UN 2023 Water Conference in the five regions covered by the United Nations Regional Commissions. Ministers responsible for water and civil society representatives will share their insights and commitments for accelerating the achievement of water-related goals.

The side event will include a thematic panel focused on water priorities and a second panel focused on means of implementation. The opportunity for discussion and interventions from the floor will be provided following each panel.
